When we published these pictures in the Summer issue, the titles, which Henri Robideau writes just beneath the image area, did not reproduce. Since they are integral to Robideau's work, we apologize for the problem and give you the titles in full here.

The Giant Nickel, Sudbury, Ontario, October 9, 1982. With two million people out of work and the mines shut down, this may be the only big money left in Canada. Henri Robideau, 1982.

Giant Wawa Goose looks out across the Trans Canada Highway—heading ever westward, Wawa, Ontario, October 8, 1982.

Giant Toy Airplane Whirlygig, McKerrow Post Office and lawn shrine, McKerrow, Ontario, October 9, 1982. Henri Robideau, 1983.
